In addition to being an engineering tool, AutoCAD is also used in the architectural and landscape professions. AutoCAD can be used by architects, interior designers, carpenters and various other types of construction industry professionals. AutoCAD can also be used to design landscaping features such as parks, parkways and sidewalks, sidewalks and curbs, buildings and other elements. Among other benefits, AutoCAD allows users to create a variety of 2-D designs, and 3-D designs as well. These designs are made from line drawings, wireframes, components and parts that are used to create the design. When using the software, a user can choose to work in two dimensions, three dimensions, or both. A common activity in AutoCAD is creating a 2-D drawing that represents the 3-D building and its surrounding landscape. A user can choose to work with 2-D plans, perspective views, orthogonal and other 2-D plans, or 3-D orthographic views and other 3-D perspectives. Using AutoCAD, a user can also create plans, sections, elevation drawings, section views, piping and ducting, bearings, schedules, and other 2-D drawings. AutoCAD also allows a user to create customized drawings in the form of blueprints, site drawings, elevations, plans, sections, and drawings. Features of AutoCAD AutoCAD is a commercial, standard 2-D and 3-D CAD program. It was the first AutoCAD and CAD software to have file sharing over the Internet. Before that, CAD users had to work on their own files that were not shared. They would also have to upload or download their files to make changes. AutoCAD is considered to be among the most popular and leading 2-D and 3-D CAD applications on the market. Over the years, AutoCAD has evolved to include improved features that allow it to be more user-friendly and easier to use than older versions. In addition, new features and improvements have been made to AutoCAD so that it works better and requires less computing power. As a result, AutoCAD is available as a desktop app on Windows, macOS, Android, and iOS devices. AutoCAD comes in two versions, AutoCAD 2018 and AutoCAD LT (formerly known as AutoCAD 2015). The differences between the two versions are discussed

Q: Textbox displaying as invalid in vb.net I have this part of my code in vb.net that displays a message box when the textbox doesn't contain any text. The problem is that it displays the message box then the textbox is blank, i want the messagebox to only display if the textbox is blank.

Public Sub TextBox_KeyUp(ByVal sender As Object, ByVal e As System.Windows.Forms.KeyEventArgs) Handles txtStorCustName.KeyUp If e.KeyCode = Keys.Enter Then Dim c As Cust = CType(sender, Cust) If Not c.StorCustName.Text.Length = 0 Then MessageBox.Show(c.StorCustName.Text.Length) Else MessageBox.Show("Stor Cust Name is Required") End If End If End Sub

A: I think the problem is that you are getting the length before you have checked the textbox for content. In that case, you could do it like this:

```
Public Sub TextBox_KeyUp(ByVal sender As Object, ByVal e As System.Windows.Forms.KeyEventArgs) Handles txtStorC
