I want to show that this is a binomial distribution. I have tried using the formula for binomial distributions but I am uncertain how to use the fact that I will be dealing with a finite set of possible outcomes to write the probability that I want as the sum of probability of the different outcomes. The way I have drawn the diagram is: $\Pr(K|X=h) = p_h \frac{\binom{K}{h}}{\binom{K+1}{h}}$ where \$h\$ is the number of heads. $\Pr(K) = \binom{K+1}{K} \prod_{h=1}^{K+1} p_h \frac{\binom{K}{h}}{\binom{K+1}{h}}$ I am unsure where to go from here to get the probability I want. A: Each number of heads is equally likely (because you did not specify any non-uniform probabilities). Here is a generalization of this
