Like the first 'Lectrovolt', 'Tora!Tora!Tora!', 'Lectrovolt II' is a 4-5 player competitive platformer. Featuring work from the 'Pandemonium' mod team, you can play with friends on a single screen (leave the WASD keys alone!) up to eight people. At each stage, one of them is the 'Controller'. He or she is tasked with guiding Lectrovolt to the Finish Line. Feature Charts ----- Stage 1: 'Liberum': Recover all beacons, find and unlock the Bosses and collect all flags. Stage 2: 'Matriarchum': Bring Mother Lectrovolt to the Boss Room. Stage 3: 'Stomach-Securum': Enter the boss room and discharge Lectrovolt's stomach with Health Color. Stage 4: 'Stenocerum': Bring the collected parts to Alistour to prevent the Earth from collapsing. Stage 5: 'Nemosum': Find the area entrance and enter it. Stage 6: 'Punctatum': Make the correct selections and activate the switches to open the exit. Stage 7: 'Crinum': Enter the boss room and defeat Lectrovolt's twin, Bluelectrovolt. Stage 8: 'Fractum': Enter the boss room and defeat Lectrovolt's twin, Pinklectrovolt. Stage 9: 'Chrysum': Enter the boss room and defeat the King of the Universe Lectrovolt, the Red Lectrovolt. Stage 10: 'Plurimum': Find the exit in the boss room to bring Mother Lectrovolt to the Finish Line. Features ----- 4-5 player local/online competitive co-op! - Single screen multiplayer (use the WASD keys for the players that are not controlling Lectrovolt) - Localised to fit most languages - No words or music or in-game graphics - only puzzle logic - Play it on the HTC Vive and optionally Oculus Rift for high-end VR support. - Works for Mac as well as Windows! - Open-source, free and Creative Commons licence! - Available for download now! The Plumbing required to make this game possible is available on GitHub! If you do not know how to build or make mods, please do not hesitate to ask me, I would be happy to help you!

Game play & History

The successful Tiger Tank 597's first mission type called Mission Pack was introduced about September 30th, 1997. It is like a standard mission type but includes hour and minute details like time of day. The Mission Pack automatically loads all missions, based on type, into a mission screen. Using the keyboard, you can start and stop the Mission Pack to see what is in it.

At that time, Mission Packs were just introduced in Tiger Tank's Mission Pack 066. One military band played the Tiger Tank Instrumental and all was right with the world.

In 1999, Tiger Tank released Mission Pack 067 called Mission to Berlin. For the first time (and probably last) as a Tiger Tank version, you can even play the scenario if you enter the code at the game's prompt. This also introduced the second class for the Tiger Tanks; the TK-Class.

Tips & Trivia

Here's a little story behind Mission Pack 066's release. The test scenario named Kavakli was tested in May of 1997 before the release of the Mission Pack and resulted in a criticism of how the Tiger Tank's gun turret is only able to be rotated through 360 degrees and not 360 degrees and a half. This led to the changed in the code in Mission Pack 066. Tiger Tank's Mission Packs were mostly developed and put into play by the final months of 1997. By then most of the information discussed on this web site was already available.

Players pick up ghost cards as they move from playfield to playfield. As they score, a different ghost is activated on each playfield. The player must pick up every card in order to progress to the next playfield. Each card has a different point value, and the goal is to get them all. Once a player scores, the top card is returned to the library, and the next card is picked up. How to Play: 1. Select 'Ghost Attack' from the main menu, and then 'Spooky 2017'. 2. Pick up cards. 3. After going through all cards on a playfield, players score the cards. The top card is returned to the library and the next card is picked up. 4. Enjoy a haunted house full of ghosts! About This Game: Spookies has a long and rich history, dating all the way back to the minis days. The basic idea is quite simple, and is widely known as 'Pick Up the Cards and Score'. The idea is to get the highest score, and a guaranteed maximum of bonus cards at the end of play. Spookies was released by Gaming Prehistorica. What's new in Palindrome Syndrome: Escape Room Soundtrack:

PROJECTS 'Music industry is the biggest scam to date'. Sam McKane these are the words from the man behind the Manic Street Preachers, Underworld and MC Chris who also knew firsthand the perils of being signed to EMI, Polydor and Warner Brothers in successive years, but damn right it was a big scam to end all scams. Now it's 1994 and rising from the ashes of The Manics is the mighty 'METAL U WHO'. The band had been a well rounded bunch of amateurs playing cold arenas around the UK since 1992 forming on Neil Hannon's 'The Aliens' album. They recruited the astounding Finley Quaye (songwriter with The Singing Kins), bassist Craig Adams (1917 Glasgow) and drummer Simon Wolstencroft (who played on 1989 L'Angelo Misterioso album and appeared in the Adam Ant video Crystal). They set themselves to rehearse to a list of songs written by Hannon which was so ambitious it included such diverse heavyweights as David Bowie, Lulu, Sister Ray, U2 and Buzzcocks. The single 'Enter Harry' was taken from the album, well it would be when it was eventually released. They were hopelessly misguided and were soon signed by Damon Albarn's 'Park Life' imprint '2 To The Top'. The album was well finished and they went in to the studio to record with Albarn and his partner Craig 'Bun E' Leach for a massive, mammoth sterling 85,000 days on the line of a put together big budget video for a very popular song 'Market Track'. Albarn had given the band 3 days and the only stipulation was that they had to take the time seriously. After rehearsals and time on the understanding the single would be released they were faced with a huge industrial 8 track mix, some duplicated feature remixes and a 13-minute video to record and shoot for the following day. What's is more they had to finish this by 7am in the morning with no information of what they were doing and no way of mixing their 11 songs. They felt totally lost trying to figure out what they were doing and suddenly things started falling apart. That afternoon the producers pulled something out of their big top hat and locked up the studio to disappear for a little while to no one's knowledge. Albarn was not pleased that something like this had happened and walked into the studio off camera and spoke with the band and producers before they
