MRI in the clinical management of patients with posterior fossa tumors: reporting experience and review of literature. To present our experience with magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) in the clinical management of patients with posterior fossa tumors, and to discuss the most effective methods of this imaging examination. From 2007 to 2009, 28 patients with posterior fossa tumors had their neurological examinations and MRI examinations performed. The imaging findings, clinical symptoms and therapeutic methods were evaluated and analyzed. According to the Chi-square test, the effect of MRI on the clinical diagnosis of the posterior fossa tumors had a significant statistical difference ($P = 0.001$). MRI is an effective examination for the diagnosis of posterior fossa tumors. The clinical symptoms, neurological examinations and CT or MRI examinations should be performed first. If these tests are negative, MRI is recommended. In our opinion, MRI should be performed with the patient in a supine position and covered by a water-proof helmet to reduce the likelihood of causing paroxysmal positional torticollis during MRI examination.

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to integrated circuits and more particularly to a method of providing an on-chip crystal oscillator. 2. Description of the Related Art An on-chip crystal oscillator 10 is shown in FIG. 1. The on-chip oscillator 10 includes a quartz crystal 12. A pair of RF input pads 14a and 14b are formed on an upper surface of the wafer. An RF oscillator 16 is formed on an upper surface of the wafer. The on-chip oscillator 10 further includes a pair of ground pads 18a and 18b formed on an upper surface of the wafer. A crystal 12, ground pads 18a and 18b, RF oscillator 16 and RF input pads 14a and 14b are all formed on an upper surface of the wafer. On-chip oscillator 10 further includes an upper interconnect layer which provides an upper surface metal layer 20. Upper surface metal layer 20 is coupled to a quartz crystal 12 and the RF oscillator 16 through via holes 22a and 22b. A lower interconnect layer includes vias 24a, 24b, 26a and 26b. The lower interconnect layer further includes an RF ground pad 28a, RF ground pad 28b, an input bias pad 30a and an input bias pad 30b. The lower interconnect layer further includes a pair of ground pads 32a and 32b. A pair of ground pads
