1. Description VR Puzzle Box is a game that you can play by the motion of hand. We consider that VR Puzzle Box has advantages and disadvantages compared with the existing games. 1. Advantages -A game can be played by the simple movement of hand -A game can be played for free -There is no such illness as fatigue after playing a game for long hours 2. Disadvantages -The game is more challenging than the other games -The game is difficult to play when playing in comparison to the existing games -It is more difficult to play for the people who have a headache or exhaustion -The game is not easy to play for children and the elderly 3. Game Structure VR Puzzle Box is a game that you can play by the motion of hand. But we consider that it is not easy to play the game depending on your situation and there is a difficulty to play for you, even by your decision. VR Puzzle Box has four story chapters that you can play. The game is different each chapter. If you play the game for one chapter, you can play the following chapter by your answer. Therefore you don't need to play each chapter's chapter, it is possible to know how to the game by the time you play this game once. The new story for the story chapter starts when you complete the chapter. Therefore you will not experience a "time lag". Each chapter is set to begin at 3 pm everyday. This is the evening time on each day. You can play the game before 3 pm or after 3 pm everyday. Also, there is an option to play an alternative story instead of the chapter story that you do not want to play. So, you can experience various stories by playing the game. The alternative story for the chapter story is set in the following dates and times. The set day/time for the alternative story 16/10/2020 8/00 - 8/00 15/11/2020 8/00 - 8/00 (Note: The set day/time for the chapter story and alternative story are the same. Just change the two date/time words.) The alternative story will start 30 minutes after you complete the chapter story, so you can start playing the game earlier than 3 pm everyday. 1. Best time for you to play. If you already make the decision that you want to play VR Puzzle Box, it is better to play it on the day time than midnight or the evening

What's new:

The Nuclear Aircraft and Missile Attack the Faroe Islands As of Sunday, May 18, 2017, an “incident” has occurred with a nuclear warhead coming close enough to the Faroe Islands to make it airborne as far as Sweden. Why the “Punch and Judy Show”? Two former Pakistani spies, Haroon Asani and Muhammad Yaseen, have testified that the Pakistan state (even at the time of this writing on Sunday, May 18, 2017) was at the heart of a conspiracy to attack and destroy the Faroe Islands on Monday, May 19, 2017. The aim of this conspiracy was to implicate Russia in the act. This claim has been widely discredited. But as the story I am about to present emerges, it will further undermine the credibility of the claim that Pakistan had anything to do with the attack on the Faroe Islands. First, for those not familiar with the geography of Scandinavia, the Faroe Islands are located on the Norwegian Sea (above Sweden and Denmark). Russia, however, borders Scandinavia. In fact, the territory almost exactly bisects Russia from the north, in terms of distance from Russia. So, logically, it would make sense that the two islands they were detonating the warhead on were actually located almost directly on top of Russia.

Another important fact to consider is that the initial news report on the accident detailed that the warhead was manufactured by Black Energy Industries (BEI). BEI in October 2015 declared bankruptcy. On February 18, 2016, Barack Obama had ordered the Seal Team 6 nuclear attack on the Islamic State terror group in Syria. The Seal Team 6 was comprised of personnel that had worked with the CIA, and soon after they went to work on destroying Islamic State and getting the Syrian Civil War rolling again. It was a singularly successful mission. Here we have an almost nuclear disaster occurring in northwestern Russia — a small island group that few know exists and, yet, the State Department claims that the “incident” is a cyber-attack against American citizens. Instead, it is an attempt to implicate Russia in the worst nuclear accident of all time. It is as if the United States government had something to do with the bombing of Pearl Harbor. This all makes it look like something one might find on the front page of the Daily Mail. Truly, the punch and Judy show that was staged when Adam Bray

Stikir is a small, quirky platformer with a colour palette that reminds me of the glorious EGA days. It's a self-contained single player experience with one goal: survival. Survival of the player. Survival of the race. This, my friends, is how game design should be. [Gameplay] The player can only move towards the left and right. Keys are scarce, so it's up to the player to make the best use of the obstacle course that's provided, and find a creative solution to the problems that are thrown at them. [Story] What is a bunnyrace if not a tale of prejudice and difference? Our heroes have arrived on Earth (well, not literally) and find themselves being mistaken for bugs by the technologically superior humans. The player is split into two races, and serves as the catalyst for overcoming prejudice, getting along and getting along better. [Graphics] Here are some images of the same scene rendered in different colours; Green is the player's race, they run towards the left hand side. Blue is the enemy race, they run towards the right hand side. Red is the ground, which in this case, is a maze. The cyan colour is the wall, which can be climbed to move and search for keys. The other colours, the beige, is the grass, which can be climbed to get onto platforms, and the brown is the fire, which can be used to destroy blocks. [Remastered Edition] This is a special edition of Stikir that contains two difficulty modes, five playable characters, and extra game elements. *Difficulty modes -Classic Mode: Easier than the Remaster Edition version. -Experimental Mode: Harder than the Remaster Edition version. *Characters -Tricky, a manipulative girl who enjoys giving you a hard time. -Mighty, a horn-headed warrior. -Eternal, a flintlock heavy-gunner. -Tinker, a technologically advanced punk that enjoys blowing things up. -Witch, a mean-spirited sorceress that turns people into spiky puddings. -Sheena, an aerobatics enthusiast. -Duke, a thief prone to waxing lyrical. -Dante, a red-clad rebel with a fondness for explosives. *Extra Game Elements -The Magic Mirror -A dash-
