The Elden Ring features a story that can be loosely connected to the world of other recent fantasy titles, especially featuring the different characteristics of fantasy titles in various genres, while also providing a plot that takes place in the Lands Between. Following the order of a myth, the story of Elden Ring begins with The Curse of the Abyss that led to the downfall of the Elden race. According to the legend, as one day the Elden race would experience the Curse of the Abyss. It was then that the Elden would perish, never to be seen again and the world of fantasy be born. The world of fantasy that the game is set in is based on this legend. The world that the game is set in is divided into four regions: The Lands Between, The Land of Dragons, The Land of Iron, and The Land of Fire. The Lands Between is where the story begins with the order of The Curse of the Abyss. The Land of Dragons is a mythical land populated by mysterious creatures. The Land of Iron is a harsh and barren land populated by powerful zombies known as Iron Beasts. The Land of Fire is a world of madness and brutal survival where you will face the apocalypse.

Perfusion-enriched doses of rubidium-82 have reduced accuracy in pulmonary disease. The purpose of this study was to determine if altered pulmonary perfusion results in decreased sensitivity or accuracy when using rubidium-82 in the quantitation of pulmonary perfusion. Thirty-five male New Zealand white rabbits with surgically-induced unilateral pulmonary emboli were randomized into 7 groups: baseline, sham control, right lung emboli, right lung emboli + ^{68}Yb implant, right lung emboli + Rb-82 implant, left lung emboli, and left lung emboli + ^{68}Yb implant. Pulmonary perfusion was quantified using 48-hour-stressed-washout (S/W) scans in all limbs and with subtraction of regions of interest (ROI) in the radiopharmaceutical-free right lung. Using standard quantitative techniques, a gamma variate function was used to convert pixel values into percent injected dose per unit mass (%ID/mL). Using principle components analysis, changes in %ID/mL were then converted into %ID/100 g and %ID/kg.
