To demonstrate the association of human leukocyte antigen (HLA)-DRB1*08 with severe refractory uveitis

in multiple sclerosis (MS) patients in the Japanese population. Twenty-seven MS patients who had refractory uveitis were retrospectively investigated. A previously reported HLA-DRB1*08 allele was investigated by direct DNA sequencing of the DRB1 alleles. The most common HLA-DRB1*08 allele was shown to be HLA-DRB1*0801. The allele frequencies of HLA-DRB1*0801 were 67% and 32% in severe and mild uveitis groups, respectively ( $p = 0.0105$ ). The allele frequencies of HLA-DRB1*0802 and HLA-DRB1*0803 were also higher in the severe group, but the differences were not significant. The results of this study suggest that HLA-DRB1*08 is associated with severe refractory uveitis in Japanese MS patients.

Q: What happens with a reference to an object in its default state Is the following a valid code:

def default_value = Cat.new def foo(bar)
  bar.is_a?(Cat)? bar.get_default : bar
end

 For example, is the Cat object created and returned to the bar's default value ? Thanks.

A: The default value is just a variable, no object is created. Remember it's equivalent to:

def default_value Cat.new end And this: def foo(bar) bar.is_a?(Cat)? bar.get_default : bar end Will not create a Cat object, only a local variable. If the variable is modified at that point, it will be assigned a different value. Q:
