BirdGut is a hand-drawn free-to-play puzzle platform game released on Steam in May 2019. It was designed and published by one person, Mika Boursier. The player controls a bird that must overcome seven different levels while collecting keys to open locks and traps. Keys can be used to unlock locked doors, and traps can be bypassed using various items as a platform. There are no "smart" enemies in the game, as the keys cannot be used to destroy enemies, which means that the player must do his best to overcome obstacles and reach his goal, while not being able to kill the enemies.
