Officers claim the driver was driving on the sidewalk and was almost struck. Police said the officer was attempting to pull over a woman in the area of North Dominguez Street and Sepulveda Boulevard, when she started to accelerate. When the officer was able to pull her over, he noticed the woman appeared to be under the influence of drugs, police said.Taiwanese Android smartphone shipments will hit 30 million units this year, according to market researcher iSuppli. The market researcher said shipments of Android handsets will surge from 19 million this year, with Apple's iPhone taking the lion's share of the market at an estimated 21 million units. "Increasing affordability, the growing popularity of Android devices among U.S. consumers, and the ever-increasing number of Android handset makers are all expected to boost sales of Android handsets in the U.S.," the firm said in a statement. iSuppli, which is part of market research firm IHS iSuppli, also said it expects shipments of Windows Phone 7-based devices to triple to 6 million this year, despite low advertising support. "The growth of Windows Phone 7 will be powered by the proliferation of lower-cost models and the promotion of the
